A World in Ruins

The world has been consumed by a relentless horde of zombies, leaving behind crumbling cities and shattered civilizations. As a survivor of this cataclysmic event, you find yourself amidst the chaos, struggling for sustenance and a semblance of safety. However, destiny calls upon you to rise above mere survival. You discover your innate ability to control the undead, unlocking the potential to become a Necromancer.

Command the Undead

As a Necromancer, you possess the ability to raise the dead and command them to do your bidding. Summon skeletons to defend you, unleash hordes of zombies to overwhelm your enemies, and even control powerful undead creatures with devastating abilities. Each undead minion has unique strengths and weaknesses, requiring you to adapt your strategies to conquer every challenge that arises.

Strategic Gameplay

Rend: Zombie Apocalypse LitRPG Necrotic Apocalypse offers a deep and engaging strategic experience. Every decision you make, from the undead you raise to the battles you wage, has significant consequences. Plan your actions carefully, consider the strengths and weaknesses of your undead army, and develop cunning tactics to overcome overwhelming odds.

Character Progression

As you progress through Necrotic Apocalypse, your character will grow in power and abilities. Unlock new spells to control more powerful undead creatures, enhance your minions' stats, and discover unique skills that give you an edge in battle. With each level gained, you will unlock new possibilities and face even greater challenges.

OFFENSIVE NECROMANCIES

2nd-level necromancy (Sorcerer, Warlock, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: 30 feet

Components: V, S

Duration: 1 round

Dark magic suffuses your hand in an attempt to crush the bones of one creature that you can see within range. The target must make a Constitution saving throw. On a failed saving throw, the target takes 2d6 bludgeoning damage and 2d6 necrotic damage, and until the end of its next turn, its speed is halved and it has disadvantage on weapon attacks. On a successful save, it takes half as much damage and suffers no other effects.

If the target is undead, it has disadvantage on the saving throw; the spell ignores resistance to necrotic damage, and it knocks the target prone on a failed save.

At Higher Levels. When you cast this spell using a spell slot of 3rd level or higher, the bludgeoning damage increases by 1d6 for each slot level above 2nd.

HEART BREAK

8th-level (blood) necromancy (Sorcerer, Warlock, Wizard)

Casting Time: 1 action

Range: Touch

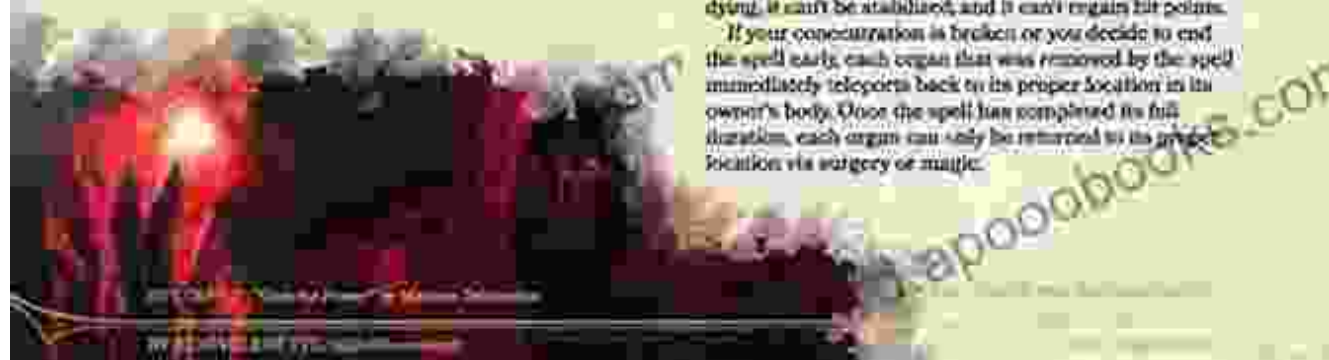

Components: V, S, M (a broken wedding ring worth at least 250gp)

Duration: Concentration, up to 1 minute

You recite wicked words and try to touch a creature that you can see to tear the vitality out of its body. Make a melee spell attack against the target. On a hit, the target takes 4d10 necrotic damage and 4d10 piercing damage, and it can't regain hit points until the end of your next turn. Until the spell ends, on each of your turns after the first, you can use your action to repeat the attack against a creature that you can see.

If the spell reduces a creature that has blood and vital organs to 0 hit points, your hand plunges into the target's body and tears out a vital organ (usually its heart), leaving the wound strangely closed. Until the organ is returned to its proper location, the creature is unconscious and dying; it can't be stabilized, and it can't regain hit points.

If your concentration is broken or you decide to end the spell early, each organ that was removed by the spell immediately teleports back to its proper location in its owner's body. Once the spell has completed its full duration, each organ can only be returned to its proper location via surgery or magic.
